In 1982, AMPRONIX was established as a high-end service organization based out of Southern California. Our goal: Service and repairs of advanced medical imaging technology across the country.

Thirty years later, our reach has drastically expanded. Years of experience, spawned from repairing numerous different products from different original equipment manufacturers, ultimately placed the company in the perfect position to expand to sales. We weren’t satisfied - it became clear that our high service volume and longstanding relationships with equipment manufacturers allowed us to become a reliable and affordable competitor. Today, we offer repair, sales, replacement and diagnostic servicing on Medical Imaging in over 130 countries across the globe.
